Superintendent Hoag has informed the Indian Bureau that he has ordered a thorough investigation into the murder of the surveyors by the Indians. In his communication he enclosed a letter from the Special Agent, John F. Williams, who says it appears that if the said outrage was committed at all by the Cheyrage was committed at all by the Caey-ennes, it was probably done by some of their young men in the absence of their chiefs. This view is strengthened by the bodies being buried in the sand, which is unusual among Indians. They scalp and leave the bodies exposed. The in-vestigation will be pursued especially with the Indians on their arrival at the Arguery to which they are now moving.

O'Kelly accompanied Garcia's steamship Atlantic, announcing the loss force of 700 armed men, about one-third whites and a majority of the other two-thirds other than black, on an expedition, during which several small engagements were lought with the Spanish troops with varied success. Thereafter he President Cespedes, who said to him that the present government of Spain may last a few months, but before four months you will see a saruggle between the Mon-archists and Republicans. It is impos-sible to say how the Republic may affect the cause of Cuba. It can make no difference to men in arms, for they will ac cept no conditions from Spain but inde endence. We are separated from Spain v an ocean of bloodshed and by an cruelty unnecessarily need by the Spanish Government in their efform beaning deverment in their coord to subducus. The blood of our fathers brothers and helpless families, slaughter-ed in cold blood, forbids our ever accept-ing any conditions from the Spaniards They must go away and leave us in peace or continue the war until we are all dead or they have been exterminated. At pres ent we look upon all Spaniards as enemie and treat them so, but if those Spaniards who remain would receive the same treatment as other citizens; no authoritative proposition ever made for the purchase of independence for a certain sum is to be guaranteed by America. But if such a solution would be accepted by such a solution would be accepted by Spain and the sum required reasonable the Cubans would be willing to accepthe terms in order to end the war. They desire peace and to the reconstruction of their homes and the well-being of the country, but before everything they want independence. It Spain will continue the war, they will fight until the country is a desert. Cespedes believed that the public opinion of the world would the public opinion of the world would not be long in coming to the aid of the Cubans. He said the prospect for Cuba was very favorable, as the Spainiards are everywhere abandoning the towns and encamping in the interior because they have no longer the strength to defend all the country. In his oninion they intend the country. In his opinion they intend retiring to the sea coast, and trying to maintain themselves, but as soon as Cubans can procure cannon and organize thoroughly their army they will attack the Spaniards in the towns. There was, says Cespedes, a moment about a year ago when we were reduced to terrible extremicies and wanted everything-clothes. munition and arms-but to-day we have

It the war continues we hope to profit by experience of the past and to continue our system—of attacking the enemy which has produced such good results, in fact we are now living on the enemy. In the beginning we acted with enemy. In the begining we acted with too much generosity, setting at liberty the Spanish prisoners, even after the the Spanish prisoners, even after the proclamation of the Spanish Gov-ernment, that all taken in arms would ernment, that are taken in arms when the bestot and the women captured in the insurgent districts subject to ten years imprisonment or deportation. Several times have I made efforts to induce the Spanish Government to carry on the war in a civilized manner, but without result. The Spaniards have resorted to the most n a civilized manner, but without result. The Spaniards have resorted to the most barbarous expedients to subdue us. The Wreck of the Atlantic. HALIFAX, April 15.—The only effect of Sunday's storm on the wrecked Atlantic was to carry away the mainmast. The sea was high yesterday and no work could be done. It is feared much damage has been done to the wreck of the Atlantic by the heavy gale. Hen Mr. Norwood of

of the vessel, attributed the disaster to the watch on deck, mistaking Sambro for Devil's Light. It appears that Miss Rawdon was reported as among the cabir nawdon was reported as among the carm passengers disembarked at Queenstown. New York, April 15.—A London telegram of the 4th says that the steamer Atlantic left on her last trip for New York with 967 tons of coal, and that it was the intention to send her out on her next voyage with only 800 tons. The cantain, purser and engineer dispatched. captain, purser and engineer dispatched etters home to the owners from Queens town, each of which were more than usu town, each of which were more than usu-ally gratifying. The engines were stated to be working well, and the coal was described as being superior to previous supplies furnished the company. Haller, April 16.—The weather con-tinues too rough for work at the Atlantic

When it moderates Capt. Hendan's divers will commence a special search for the bodies. The White Star agents have bodies. The White Star agents have agreed to pay $50 for every cabin body recovered and $30 for every steerage.

Judge Jacksson, United States Counsul at this port, has been untiring in his exertions on behalf of the survivors and their bereaved friends and relations.

The captain and officers of the Atlantic having discredited the statement of the quartermaster. Thorax who said he can.

naving discredited the statement of the quartermaster, Thomas, who said he cautioned the second officer against the danger and that he afterwards assisted in saving the passengers. Twenty-five seamen, stewards, and engineers have signed a paper, testifying that Thomas saved their lives. There are many persons who warmly espouse Thomas' course, and say that the capitain sent him course, and say that the captain sent him off to England by the first steamer to get clear of him, lest he should make unpleasant revelations.
